

Four vertical columns of characters on a stone inscription. The characters are small and appear to be a form of early script, possibly Indus script. The inscription is set within a rectangular frame on a larger stone block.

1941